ABOUT THE ORGANIZATION

The Center for Gender and Refugee Studies (CGRS), based at the University of California Hastings College of the Law, is seeking law student candidates for our Fall 2021 Law Clerk positions. CGRS provides legal expertise, training, and resources to attorneys representing asylum seekers, advocates to protect refugees, advances refugee law and policy, and uses domestic, regional and international mechanisms to address the root causes of persecution. For more information about CGRS, visit <http://cgrs.uchastings.edu/>.

JOB DESCRIPTION

Law clerks are involved in the full range of CGRS's work, and work closely with CGRS lawyers and staff in other projects as needed. For example, projects might include:

- Analyzing emerging asylum law trends
- Developing training and technical assistance materials
- Assisting with frontline provision of technical assistance and data collection
- Conducting national policy work
- Engaging in international human rights projects

Given our small office and high volume of work, law clerks must be able to work with minimal supervision. For now, the position will be remote. However, in the event of a return to normal on campus activities, hours and work location will remain flexible.

- Fluency in Spanish is desirable, but not required

FUNDING

We are committed to offering the best possible internship opportunities in an equitable manner. If the clerk is not able to get funding elsewhere or does not choose to get course or pro bono credit for the clerkship, we offer an hourly rate consistent with a research assistantship.

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis until the position is filled. Please submit a short cover letter, resume, writing sample (5-10 pages), and list of 2-3 references to CGRS Legal Director, Blaine Bookey via email at BookeyBl@uchastings.edu with the subject line "Fall 2021 Law Clerk Position."
