

ASISTA, the Center for Gender and Refugee Studies, and Tahirih Justice Center proudly present a new web-based training opportunity on

Helping Those Released from Family Detention: Asylum Options for Immigrant Survivors of Domestic and Sexual Violence

This webinar series is for attorneys, accredited representatives, domestic and sexual violence advocates, mental health service providers and social workers already familiar with VAWA and U visas to help women and children released from family detention centers. Specifically, it is designed to expand your knowledge and capacity to help survivors fleeing domestic and sexual violence in their home countries apply for asylum. We encourage teams of lawyers and non-legal advocates to participate together.

1. “Asylum Overview for Attorneys and Advocates Working with Survivors”
Thursday January 7, 2016 from 2-3:30 pm ET/ 11am-12:30pm PT

This webinar will give participants an overview of the asylum framework, help participants with issue spotting and identifying red flags, discuss asylum’s intersections with other forms of relief (SIJS, T visa, etc.), and explain how teams of attorneys and advocates working together can best meet the holistic needs of survivors.
